ENVIRONMENT AWARENESS PROGRAMME

Subject: "Cultivating Awareness for Environmental Conservation on Monday, 5th June 2023 at Vashi Palm Beach Road, Navi Mumbai.

The schedule of the Awareness for Environmental given as below...

Date of the programme - 02/10/2023

Venue of the program – Vashi, Near Railway Station

No NSS Volunteers participated: 36

Introduction:

In today's world, the pressing need for environmental conservation has become increasingly evident. As human activities continue to exert unprecedented pressure on the planet's ecosystems, there is a growing urgency to raise awareness and foster a deeper understanding of environmental issues. This subject aims to explore the significance of cultivating awareness for environmental conservation and the various avenues through which it can be achieved.

Understanding Environmental Awareness:

Environmental awareness refers to the consciousness and understanding of the impact of human actions on the environment and the recognition of the need for sustainable practices to mitigate these impacts. It involves acknowledging the interconnectedness of all living organisms and recognizing our responsibility to preserve and protect the natural world for future generations

Importance of Environmental Awareness:

Preservation of Ecosystems: Increased awareness fosters a greater appreciation for the intricate balance of ecosystems and the importance of biodiversity in maintaining ecological stability.

Mitigation of Environmental Degradation: By understanding the causes and consequences of environmental degradation, individuals and communities are empowered to adopt sustainable behaviors and advocate for policies that promote conservation.

Climate Change Mitigation: Awareness of climate change and its far-reaching implications motivates collective action towards reducing carbon emissions, promoting renewable energy, and implementing adaptation strategies.

Sh
PRINCIPAL

Resource Conservation: Awareness prompts individuals to adopt practices such as reducing, reusing, and recycling to minimize resource consumption and waste generation.

Health and Well-being: A clean and healthy environment is essential for human health and well-being. Awareness of environmental hazards encourages efforts to improve air and water quality, thereby enhancing public health outcomes.

Promoting Environmental Awareness:

Education and Outreach Programs: Schools, universities, and community organizations play a crucial role in educating individuals about environmental issues through curriculum integration, workshops, and outreach activities.

Media and Communication: Leveraging various media platforms, including social media, documentaries, and news outlets, to disseminate information and raise awareness about environmental challenges and solutions.

Policy Advocacy: Engaging in advocacy efforts to influence policymakers and promote environmentally responsible legislation at local, national, and international levels.

Corporate Responsibility: Encouraging businesses to adopt sustainable practices, reduce environmental footprint, and invest in eco-friendly technologies through consumer demand and corporate accountability measures.

Community Engagement: Empowering communities to participate in conservation initiatives, such as tree planting campaigns, beach clean-ups, and habitat restoration projects, fosters a sense of ownership and stewardship towards the environment.

Conclusion:

In conclusion, cultivating awareness for environmental conservation is paramount in addressing the complex challenges facing our planet. By fostering a deeper understanding of environmental issues, empowering individuals and communities to take action, and advocating for systemic change, we can work towards building a sustainable future for generations to come. It is through collective efforts and unwavering commitment that we can safeguard the environment and ensure the well-being of both present and future generations.

Aknowledgement:

We extend our gratitude to all NSS volunteers, community members, and stakeholders who contributed to the success of this campaign and reaffirmed their commitment to the global awareness for Environment.

5TH AUGUST FRIDAY | SHOP NO. 40, SHANTI CENTER
BUILDING, SUN FLOWER ROAD, SECTOR
17, VESHI, NAVI MUMBAI

Introduction:

World Breastfeeding Week is an annual observance held on August 1st each year to promote and support breastfeeding as the best way to provide infants with the nutrients they need for healthy growth and development. This subject explores the significance of World Breastfeeding Week in promoting the health and well-being of infants and mothers globally.

Breastfeeding is a natural and fundamental aspect of early childhood nutrition, providing numerous health benefits for both infants and mothers. The World Health Organization (WHO) recommends exclusive breastfeeding for the first six months of life, followed by continued breastfeeding alongside complementary foods for up to two years or beyond. Despite its importance, breastfeeding rates vary worldwide, influenced by cultural, social, economic, and environmental factors.

Key Themes:

- Nutritional Benefits: Breast milk is uniquely tailored to meet the nutritional needs of infants, providing essential nutrients, antibodies, and enzymes that support their immune system, brain development, and overall health. World Breastfeeding Week emphasizes the unparalleled nutritional benefits of breastfeeding and its role in reducing the risk of infectious diseases, malnutrition, and childhood obesity.
- Health Equity: World Breastfeeding Week advocates for equitable access to breastfeeding support and resources, ensuring that all mothers, regardless of their socio-economic status, receive the assistance they need to initiate and sustain breastfeeding. Addressing barriers such as lack of education, social stigma, inadequate healthcare services, and workplace discrimination is essential to promoting breastfeeding as a universal practice.
- Maternal Health: Breastfeeding offers significant health benefits for mothers, including a reduced risk of breast and ovarian cancer, postpartum depression, and cardiovascular disease. World Breastfeeding Week highlights the importance of maternal well-being and the positive impact of breastfeeding on maternal-infant bonding, emotional health, and birth spacing.
- Environmental Sustainability: Breastfeeding is environmentally sustainable, requiring no packaging, transportation, or waste disposal compared to formula feeding. World Breastfeeding Week promotes breastfeeding as an eco-friendly feeding option that conserves natural resources, reduces carbon emissions, and minimizes environmental pollution, contributing to a healthier planet for future generations.
- Community Support: World Breastfeeding Week emphasizes the role of family, healthcare providers, employers, policymakers, and communities in creating supportive environments for breastfeeding mothers. By fostering a culture of acceptance, understanding, and empowerment, communities can help mothers overcome challenges and successfully breastfeed their infants.

Activities and Initiatives:

World Breastfeeding Week is commemorated through various activities and initiatives, including:

- Public awareness campaigns through media channels, social media platforms, and community events.
- Educational workshops, seminars, and breastfeeding support groups for mothers and families.
- Healthcare provider training programs to improve breastfeeding counseling and support services.
- Policy advocacy efforts to enact legislation that protects and promotes breastfeeding rights in workplaces, healthcare facilities, and public spaces.
- Breastfeeding-friendly workplace initiatives that provide lactation accommodations, paid maternity leave, and breastfeeding breaks for employees.

policies and programs, we can create a more breastfeeding-friendly world where every child has the best start in life and every mother receives the support she needs to breastfeed successfully.

Conclusion World Breastfeeding Week serves as a powerful platform to raise awareness, advocate for policy change, and celebrate the importance of breastfeeding in nurturing healthier families and communities. By recognizing breastfeeding as a fundamental human right and investing in supportive

TREE PLANTATION DRIVE

Trees are the foremost source for producing the oxygen in environment, they help to reduce the level of CO₂. As we all know that the whole world is facing the problem of global warming and to recover from such problem planting the trees is become one of the most important aspects today.

Plantation holds significant importance for various ecological, environmental, economic, and social reasons. It helps maintain biodiversity, which is crucial for the stability and resilience of ecosystems. Trees and plants absorb carbon dioxide from the atmosphere through photosynthesis and store carbon in their biomass and soil. This helps mitigate the effects of climate change by reducing the concentration of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere.

The tree is the key to a pollution-free environment for a long time. Trees filter and purify the air by absorbing pollutants and releasing oxygen. They also play a vital role in maintaining water quality by preventing soil erosion, filtering water runoff, and replenishing groundwater reserves.

Plantation helps prevent soil erosion by stabilizing soil with their roots and providing a protective layer against wind and water erosion. This is crucial for maintaining fertile soil for agriculture and preventing land degradation.

Plantation plays a vital role in sustaining life on Earth by contributing to biodiversity conservation, carbon sequestration, climate regulation, and overall environmental health.

CLIMATE CHANGE WORKSHOP

Climate change refers to long-term shifts in temperatures and weather patterns. In common usage, climate change describes global warming—the ongoing increase in global average temperature—and its effects on Earth's climate system.

"Don't choose extinction, make new start or changes." It's the journey from Global Warming to Global Warning.

The main greenhouse gases that are causing climate change include carbon dioxide and methane. Humans—more specifically, the greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions that human activity generates—are the leading cause of the earth's rapidly changing climate today. Greenhouse gases play an important role in keeping the planet warm enough to inhabit. But the amount of these gases in our atmosphere has skyrocketed in recent decades.

"Energy conservation isn't just about saving watts and dollars; it's a critical step towards preserving the delicate balance of our planet's climate and securing a sustainable future for generations to come."

Climate Change Workshop was conducted by NSS Unit of Saraswati College of Engineering, Kharghar in collaboration with Energy Swaraj Foundation (IIT Bombay) for raising the awareness on Environmental Sustainability and the urgent need for Climate action on 23rd August 2023.

NSS students of various colleges such as Oriental College of Pharmacy, Sanpada Navi Mumbai etc. participated in this seminar and acknowledged more about the climate change.

The Seminar started with the guidance of Dr. Manjusha Deshmukh, the Principal of SCOE. Then Dr. Shaurya, member of Energy Swaraj Foundation shared their experience of working with the Prof. Chetan Singh Solanki - Solar Man of India. Further it proceeded with the guiding the students with the modules regarding the Energy Literacy Training and Climate Change following the quiz.

Rabies: One Health, Zero Deaths

OCP

Introduction:

World Rabies Day is a global initiative observed annually on September 28th to raise awareness about rabies prevention and to highlight the importance of vaccination and control efforts to eliminate this deadly virus. Since its inception, World Rabies Day has served as a platform for governments, organizations, and communities worldwide to come together, share knowledge, and take action to combat rabies.

Background:

Rabies is a viral disease that affects the central nervous system of mammals, including humans. It is primarily transmitted through the saliva of infected animals, most commonly through bites. Once symptoms appear, rabies is almost always fatal, making it a significant public health concern in many parts of the world, particularly in regions where vaccination programs and access to healthcare are limited.

Themes and Objectives:

Each year, World Rabies Day is organized around a specific theme aimed at addressing key aspects of rabies prevention, control, and awareness. Themes may include:

- ✓ Vaccinate to Eliminate: Emphasizing the importance of mass dog vaccination campaigns as a cost-effective strategy to prevent rabies transmission and protect human health.
- ✓ Community Engagement: Promoting community involvement in rabies prevention efforts through education, awareness campaigns, and responsible pet ownership initiatives.
- ✓ One Health Approach: Highlighting the interconnectedness of human, animal, and environmental health and advocating for collaborative approaches to rabies control that involve multiple sectors.
- ✓ Innovations in Rabies Control: Showcasing new technologies, tools, and strategies for rabies diagnosis, surveillance, and control, including novel vaccine delivery methods and surveillance techniques.

Activities and Initiatives:

World Rabies Day activities may include:

- ✓ Awareness Campaigns: Launching public awareness campaigns through media channels, social media platforms, and community events to educate people about the risks of rabies and the importance of vaccination.
- ✓ Vaccination Drives: Organizing mass dog vaccination campaigns in high-risk areas to increase vaccine coverage and reduce the incidence of rabies in animal populations.
- ✓ Educational Workshops: Conducting workshops, seminars, and training sessions for healthcare professionals, veterinarians, and community members on rabies prevention, first aid for animal bites, and post-exposure prophylaxis.

Sh

- ✓ Advocacy Efforts: Advocating for policy changes and increased funding for rabies control programs at the national and international levels, as well as promoting legislation to promote responsible pet ownership and humane animal control practices.
- ✓ Research and Innovation: Supporting research initiatives to develop new rabies vaccines, diagnostic tools, and treatment methods, as well as evaluating the effectiveness of existing control strategies.

Global Impact:

World Rabies Day plays a crucial role in raising awareness about rabies as a preventable disease and mobilizing action to eliminate it. By promoting vaccination, responsible pet ownership, and community engagement, World Rabies Day contributes to the global effort to achieve the goal of zero human deaths from rabies by 2030, as outlined in the Global Strategic Plan to End Human Deaths from Dog-Mediated Rabies by 2030.

Conclusion:

Observing World Rabies Day provides an opportunity to unite stakeholders from across sectors and regions in the fight against rabies. By working together to raise awareness, promote vaccination, and implement effective control measures, we can protect both human and animal health and ultimately eliminate rabies as a public health threat.

Acknowledgement:

We extend our gratitude to all NSS volunteers, community members, and stakeholders who contributed to the success of this campaign and reaffirmed their commitment to the global awareness for World Rabies Day.

THE PROBLEM OF RUPEE: ITS ORIGIN AND SOLUTION
SANVIDHAN DIN

Constitution Day also known as 'Savidhan Divas', is celebrated in our country on 26th November every year to commemorate the adoption of the Constitution of India. On 26th November 1949, the Constituent Assembly of India adopted the Constitution of India, which came into effect on 26th January 1950. The celebration of Constitution Day also marks the end of the struggle of the Constituent Assembly of India in the Compilation of the Indian Constitution. The thesis on - The Problem of Rupee: Its Origin and Solution was written by Dr. BR. Ambedkar in the year 1922-1923 and raised many currency questions in British India which led to the creation of the Reserve Bank of India. Thus this thesis plays a very important role in establishing the economic development and monetary stability of the nation under the supervision of the Reserve Bank of India.

On Sunday 26 November 2023, The University of Mumbai along with Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar International Research Centre and Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Research and Training Institute, Pune in collaboration with the London School of Economics and Political Science organized One Day Conference on The Problem of Rupee: Its Origin and Solution on the

There was an intense discussion on the economic condition and monetary instability of the British India which ultimately led to the formation of Reserve Bank of India (RBI) as a governing body to keep a check on the above problem. The conference concluded with an euphonious song by the students of University of Mumbai around 4:00 PM.

Equalize - World AIDS Day 2022. The inequalities which perpetuate the AIDS pandemic are not inevitable; we can tackle them. disease, show support for those living with HIV, and celebrate the progress made in the global fight against HIV/AIDS. Since its inception in 1988, World AIDS Day has become one of the most recognized international health days, uniting people worldwide in the fight against HIV/AIDS.

Background:

HIV (Human Immunodeficiency Virus) is a virus that attacks the immune system, weakening the body's ability to fight off infections and diseases. AIDS (Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome) is the most advanced stage of HIV infection when the immune system is severely damaged. HIV/AIDS has claimed millions of lives worldwide since it was first identified in the early 1980s. However, significant progress has been made in prevention, treatment, and awareness since then.

Themes:

Each year, World AIDS Day is organized around a specific theme to focus attention on key aspects of the HIV/AIDS pandemic. Themes often revolve around promoting education, challenging stigma and discrimination, supporting those affected by HIV/AIDS, and advocating for increased funding and resources for prevention and treatment programs.

Activities:

World AIDS Day is marked by various activities and events organized by governments, non-profit organizations, healthcare institutions, and communities. These activities include:

- ❖ Awareness Campaigns: Public awareness campaigns are launched through media channels, social media platforms, and community events to disseminate information about HIV/AIDS prevention, testing, treatment, and support services.
- ❖ Candlelight Vigils: Many communities hold candlelight vigils to remember those who have died from AIDS-related illnesses and to show solidarity with people living with HIV.
- ❖ Fundraising Events: Fundraisers such as charity walks, runs, concerts, and art exhibitions are organized to raise funds for HIV/AIDS research, prevention, and support programs.
- ❖ Testing and Counseling Services: Specialized clinics and healthcare facilities offer free or discounted HIV testing and counseling services to encourage people to know their HIV status and seek appropriate care if needed.
- ❖ Educational Workshops: Workshops, seminars, and panel discussions are held to educate the public, healthcare professionals, and policymakers about the latest developments in HIV/AIDS research, treatment, and prevention strategies.

- ❖ Advocacy Efforts: Advocacy campaigns aim to address social and structural barriers to HIV/AIDS prevention and treatment, including stigma, discrimination, gender inequality, and lack of access to healthcare services.

Global Impact:

World AIDS Day serves as a reminder of the global impact of HIV/AIDS and the need for continued collective action to end the pandemic. Despite significant progress in recent years, challenges remain, including disparities in access to treatment, the rise of HIV infections in certain populations, and the ongoing stigma associated with HIV/AIDS. By coming together on World AIDS Day, individuals and organizations reaffirm their commitment to achieving the goal of ending the HIV/AIDS epidemic by 2030, as outlined in the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals.

Conclusion:

World AIDS Day is a crucial opportunity to raise awareness, show support, and mobilize action in the fight against HIV/AIDS. Through education, advocacy, and solidarity, we can continue to make progress towards ending the HIV/AIDS pandemic and ensuring a world where everyone can live healthy and fulfilling lives regardless of their HIV status.

STOP THINK ACT
Stop! Think Safety! Act Safely!

Introduction:

Traffic control rules and regulations are essential components of road safety management aimed at ensuring the smooth flow of traffic, minimizing accidents, and protecting the lives of road users. Understanding and adhering to these rules are critical for all drivers, pedestrians, and cyclists to maintain order and prevent chaos on the roads.

SR

Key Components of Traffic Control Rules and Regulations:

❖ Traffic Signals:

Traffic signals such as traffic lights, stop signs, yield signs, and pedestrian crossing signals regulate the movement of vehicles and pedestrians at intersections.

Drivers must obey traffic signals, understanding their meanings and responding appropriately to changes in signal colors or signs.

❖ Speed Limits:

Speed limits are imposed to control the speed of vehicles on different types of roads, ensuring safety for all road users.

Drivers are required to adhere to posted speed limits, adjusting their speed according to road conditions, weather, and visibility.

❖ Lane Discipline:

Lane discipline dictates the proper use of lanes on multi-lane roads, highways, and expressways.

Drivers must stay within their designated lanes, use turn signals when changing lanes, and avoid unnecessary lane changes to maintain the smooth flow of traffic.

❖ Right of Way:

Right-of-way rules determine which vehicle or pedestrian has the legal right to proceed first at intersections, crosswalks, and merging lanes.

Drivers must yield the right of way to pedestrians, emergency vehicles, and vehicles already in the intersection or on the main road.

❖ Traffic Signs and Markings:

Traffic signs, road markings, and pavement symbols convey important information to drivers regarding speed limits, directions, hazards, and regulations.

Drivers must understand and obey these signs and markings to navigate roads safely and legally.

SL

❖ Pedestrian Safety:

Pedestrian safety rules protect individuals walking or crossing roads, sidewalks, and crosswalks.

Drivers must yield to pedestrians at designated crosswalks, stop for pedestrians waiting to cross, and exercise caution in areas with high pedestrian activity.

❖ Parking Regulations:

Parking regulations govern the proper parking and stopping of vehicles in designated areas, including parking lots, street parking, and loading zones.

Drivers must park their vehicles legally, avoiding prohibited areas, blocking traffic, or obstructing visibility.

❖ Importance of Adhering to Traffic Control Rules and Regulations:

- ✓ Safety: Compliance with traffic control rules reduces the risk of accidents, injuries, and fatalities on the roads, promoting safer travel for all road users.
- ✓ Efficiency: Traffic flow improves when drivers follow rules and regulations, reducing congestion, delays, and frustration for commuters.
- ✓ Legal Compliance: Adhering to traffic laws helps drivers avoid fines, penalties, and legal consequences associated with traffic violations, preserving their driving privileges and records.
- ✓ Respect for Others: Following traffic control rules demonstrates respect for the safety and rights of other road users, fostering a culture of cooperation and mutual respect on the roads.

Sl
PRINCIPAL

Conclusion:

Traffic control rules and regulations serve as the foundation of road safety and orderly traffic management. By understanding, respecting, and adhering to these rules, drivers, pedestrians, and cyclists contribute to safer, more efficient, and harmonious road environments for everyone. Enforcing compliance with traffic laws through education, enforcement, and public awareness campaigns is essential for promoting responsible behavior and reducing traffic-related incidents.

Introduction:

Social media has become an integral part of our daily lives, shaping how we communicate, interact, and consume information. However, along with its benefits, social media also poses various challenges, including privacy concerns, misinformation, cyberbullying, and addiction. In this report, we will delve into the importance of social media awareness, its implications, and strategies to foster a more informed and responsible use of social platforms.

Importance of Social Media Awareness:

Privacy Protection: Many users are unaware of the extent to which their personal data is collected and utilized by social media companies. Lack of awareness regarding privacy settings and data sharing policies can expose individuals to various risks, including identity theft and targeted advertising.

Combatting Misinformation: The proliferation of fake news and misinformation on social media platforms has become a pressing issue. Awareness campaigns can educate users on how to critically evaluate information, identify unreliable sources, and verify the credibility of content before sharing it further.

Cyberbullying Prevention: Social media provides a platform for cyberbullying, harassment, and online abuse. By promoting awareness about cyberbullying and its consequences, users can be empowered to recognize and report abusive behavior, fostering a safer online environment.

Digital Well-being: Excessive use of social media has been linked to mental health issues such as anxiety, depression, and low self-esteem. Awareness initiatives can encourage users to practice healthy digital habits, such as setting boundaries, taking breaks, and prioritizing real-life interactions.

Digital Literacy: With the rapid evolution of technology and media, digital literacy skills are essential for navigating the online landscape effectively. Social media awareness campaigns can provide users with the knowledge and skills necessary to navigate privacy settings, identify online threats, and engage in constructive online discourse.

Implications of Ignorance

Sh

PRINCIPAL

Failure to address social media awareness can have serious consequences, including:

Privacy Violations: Users may unwittingly expose sensitive personal information, leading to privacy breaches and potential exploitation by malicious actors.

Spread of Misinformation: Without the ability to discern credible information from false content, users may inadvertently contribute to the dissemination of misinformation, undermining trust in media and democratic processes.

Increased Cyberbullying: Ignorance regarding cyberbullying may perpetuate harmful behavior, resulting in psychological harm to victims and perpetrators alike.

Negative Impact on Mental Health: Unawareness of healthy digital habits may exacerbate mental health issues associated with social media use, leading to decreased well-being and productivity.

Digital Divide: Lack of social media awareness can widen the digital divide, as individuals with limited access to information and resources may be disproportionately affected by online threats and exploitation.

Strategies for Promoting Social Media Awareness

Education and Training: Integrate social media awareness into educational curricula and provide training sessions for users of all ages to promote digital literacy and responsible online behavior.

Awareness Campaigns: Launch targeted awareness campaigns through social media platforms, traditional media outlets, and community events to raise awareness about privacy, misinformation, cyberbullying, and digital well-being.

Collaboration with Tech Companies: Collaborate with social media companies to develop user-friendly tools, resources, and features that promote privacy, safety, and digital literacy.

SL

Community Engagement: Foster community engagement through online forums, discussion groups, and workshops where users can share experiences, seek support, and learn from one another.

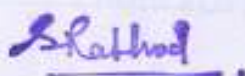

Parental Guidance: Provide parents and guardians with resources and guidance on how to monitor and support their children's online activities, emphasizing the importance of open communication and setting appropriate boundaries.

Conclusion:

In an increasingly interconnected world, social media awareness is paramount to fostering a safe, informed, and inclusive online environment. By promoting digital literacy, privacy protection, and responsible online behavior, we can harness the potential of social media for positive social change while mitigating its associated risks. Through collaborative efforts involving educators, policymakers, tech companies, and communities, we can empower users to navigate the digital landscape with confidence, resilience, and empathy.

a detailed overview of the significance, history, current status, and future outlook of World Leprosy Day.

Significance:

World Leprosy Day holds significant importance in the global efforts to combat leprosy. It serves as a platform to educate the public about the disease, its symptoms, treatment, and prevention measures. Additionally, it aims to promote social inclusion and acceptance of individuals affected by leprosy, combating the deep-rooted stigma and discrimination they face.

History:

World Leprosy Day was established by French humanitarian Raoul Follereau in 1954. Follereau was deeply moved by the suffering of leprosy patients he encountered during his travels, and he dedicated his life to raising awareness and support for them. He proposed the idea of a day dedicated to leprosy awareness to the United Nations, which led to the establishment of World Leprosy Day. Since then, it has been observed annually by various organizations, governments, and communities worldwide.

Current Status:

Despite significant progress in the fight against leprosy, the disease remains a public health concern in many parts of the world. According to the World Health Organization (WHO), over 200,000 new cases of leprosy are reported globally each year, with the majority occurring in countries like India, Brazil, and Indonesia. While effective treatment is available through multidrug therapy (MDT), late diagnosis and social stigma continue to pose challenges to the elimination of leprosy.

Activities and Initiatives:

On World Leprosy Day, numerous activities and initiatives are organized to promote awareness and support for those affected by leprosy. These may include:

- Health campaigns providing information on leprosy symptoms, treatment, and prevention.

Signature

PRINCIPAL

ORIENTAL COLLEGE OF PHARMACY

- Educational workshops and seminars for healthcare professionals, community leaders, and the general public.
- Advocacy campaigns to address stigma and discrimination associated with leprosy.
- Fundraising events to support research, treatment programs, and rehabilitation services for leprosy patients.

Future Outlook:

Efforts to eliminate leprosy as a public health problem continue, with the goal set by the WHO to reduce the global burden of the disease. This includes strengthening healthcare systems, improving access to early diagnosis and treatment, and addressing social determinants that contribute to stigma and discrimination. Additionally, research into new diagnostic tools, treatment regimens, and vaccines remains a priority in the fight against leprosy.

Conclusion:

World Leprosy Day serves as a reminder of the ongoing challenges faced by those affected by leprosy and the importance of collective action to eliminate the disease and support those living with it. By raising awareness, promoting early detection, and combating stigma, we can work towards a world where leprosy no longer poses a threat to public health and where all individuals are treated with dignity and respect, regardless of their health status.

Challenges in TB Control:

Several factors contribute to the persistence of TB as a global health threat. Chief among these challenges are limited access to healthcare services, inadequate diagnostic tools, the emergence of drug-resistant strains, and social determinants such as poverty and stigma. Additionally, the COVID-19 pandemic has exacerbated TB disparities and disrupted essential TB services, underscoring the need for resilient health systems and innovative approaches to TB care delivery.

Key Strategies for TB Elimination:

Achieving the ambitious goal of ending the TB epidemic by 2030, as outlined in the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals, demands concerted action at global, national, and community levels. Key strategies include:

- Strengthening healthcare systems to ensure universal access to quality TB prevention, diagnosis, and treatment services.
- Scaling up efforts to reach vulnerable and marginalized populations with tailored TB interventions, addressing social determinants and reducing stigma.
- Investing in research and development for new TB diagnostics, drugs, and vaccines, including novel approaches such as precision medicine and immunotherapies.
- Promoting multisectoral collaboration and partnerships to address the complex drivers of TB, including poverty, inequality, and migration.
- Empowering communities through education, advocacy, and patient-centered care models that prioritize the needs and voices of those affected by TB.

Conclusion:

World Tuberculosis Day serves as a critical moment to renew commitments and galvanize action towards a TB-free world. By leveraging innovation, solidarity, and political will, we can overcome the challenges posed by TB and ensure that every individual, regardless of their circumstances, has the opportunity to live a healthy and fulfilling life. Let us stand united in the fight against tuberculosis, working together to turn the tide and consign this ancient scourge to the annals of history.

Acknowledgement:

We extend our gratitude to all NSS volunteers, community members, and stakeholders who contributed to the success of this campaign and reaffirmed their commitment to the global awareness for World Tuberculosis Day.

Short description of the activity-What are stem cells?

Stem cells have the remarkable potential to renew themselves. They can develop into many different cell types in the body during early life and growth. Researchers study many different types of stem cells. There are several main categories: the "pluripotent" stem cells (embryonic stem cells and induced pluripotent stem cells) and non embryonic or somatic stem cells (commonly called "adult" stem cells). Pluripotent stem cells have the ability to differentiate into all of the cells of the adult body. Adult stem cells are found in a tissue or organ and can differentiate to yield the specialized cell types of that tissue or organ.

Properties of stem cells

Unlike muscle cells, blood cells, or nerve cells—which do not normally replicate— stem cells may replicate many times. When a stem cell divides, the resulting two daughter cells may be:

- 1) both stem cells,
- 2) a stem cell and a more differentiated cell, or
- 3) both more differentiated cells. What controls the balance between these types of divisions to maintain stem cells at an appropriate level within a given tissue is not yet well known.

In alignment of the above study and research, the Public health Office Committee of Oriental College of Pharmacy Sanpada organized a nukkad natak so as to increase public awareness about stem cell preservation. – Kal aur jeevan ka sanrakshan: Stem cell kahani aur virasat. This campaign, held on January 31, 2024, served as a platform to raise awareness about stem cell preservation covering the relevance of umbilical cord blood and their use in many diseases.

Methods used for conducting the campaign:

Initiating the stem cell preservation campaign on January 31st, 2024, the PHO committee members carefully planned each and every step to ensure that the campaign was informative and engaging to the local audience. We started by understanding the importance of stem cells, how they are used in diseases and its preservation. We then started to work on the script and dialogue writing encouraging members to use their creative side and also managed to make it under the given rules. After which we casted characters for the skit. Then we started to practice and direct the scenes. Encourage the members about themselves and that they could make it perfect. We used the traditional way to gather and attract people.

We carefully managed to make the skit 5 minutes and 19 seconds long, in Hindi language for better understanding, precisely addressing concerns identified through prior surveys. Before the actual skit to be performed our volunteers conducted a per survey. The skit revolves around a small girl Kashish who fought Cancer with the help of chemotherapy but she still struggles to live a normal life. She was encouraged by her parents Riya and Aviral. Three of them had hopes of a happy life ahead. Dr. Prakash informed them about stem cells and suggested the treatment for betterment of Kashish's health. After 7 months they preserved the stem cells from Riya's umbilical cord and cured Kashish despite the objection of Anu.

After the skit our managing committee started to interact with the local audience and street vendors about the stem cells and helped them with survey forms so as to ensure a comprehensive evaluation of the campaign. Additionally we posted the skit video on social media and circulated the survey forms so as to capture more audience. In summary of our campaign was carried out seamlessly also we used both the traditional and the digital platforms to separated awareness about Stem cell preservation.

Result of your activity:

Following the stem cell preservation skit, our primary focus was to assess its impact on public awareness and understanding. To capture the nuanced perspectives of our diverse audience, we distributed feedback forms featuring questions in Hindi ensuring accessibility and ease of comprehension. These questions were thoughtfully crafted to Short description of the activity-World Health Day: World Cancer Day*What is Cancer?

Cancer is a large group of diseases that can start in almost any organ or tissue of the body when abnormal cells grow uncontrollably, go beyond their usual boundaries to invade adjoining parts of the body and/or spread to other organs. Cancer is the second leading cause of death globally, accounting for an estimated 9.6 million deaths, or 1 in 6 deaths, in 2018. Lung, prostate, colorectal, stomach and liver cancer are the most common types of cancer in men, while breast, colorectal, lung, cervical and thyroid cancer are the most common among women.

Prevention

Cancer risk can be reduced by:

- Not using tobacco;
- Maintaining a healthy body weight;
- Eating a healthy diet, including fruit and vegetables;
- Doing physical activity on a regular basis;
- Avoiding or reducing consumption of alcohol;
- Avoiding ultraviolet radiation exposure and/or using sun protection measures;
- Ensuring safe and appropriate use of radiation in health care (for diagnostic and therapeutic purposes);

NATIONAL LIBRARIAN DAY REPORT

Date: 12th August 2023

Venue: College Library, Oriental College of Pharmacy

The Oriental College of Pharmacy celebrated National Librarian Day with great enthusiasm and respect on 12th August 2023, in the college library. This day holds special significance as it marks the birth anniversary of Dr. S.R. Ranganathan, the father of library science in India. The event aimed to honour the invaluable contributions of librarians in fostering knowledge and promoting the love for reading among students and faculty. The college library was beautifully decorated for the occasion, creating a warm and welcoming atmosphere for all attendees. Students, faculty members, and library staff gathered in large numbers to participate in the event.

The highlight of the celebration was a speech delivered by Ms. Sonali Waval, the college Asst. Librarian. In her insightful and inspiring address, Ms. Waval elaborated on the importance of National Librarian Day. She spoke about Dr. S.R. Ranganathan's contributions to library science, particularly his Five Laws of Library Science, which have laid the foundation for modern library practices.

Ms. Sonali Waval also emphasized the evolving role of librarians in the digital age, where they are not just custodians of books but also guides who help students navigate the vast sea of information available online. She encouraged students to make the best use of library resources and to cultivate a habit of reading, which she described as a lifelong asset. Following the speech, an interactive session was held where students and faculty members had the opportunity to ask questions and share their thoughts on the importance of libraries in education.

The event also included a segment where the efforts of the entire library staff were acknowledged. The Principal and faculty members expressed their gratitude to the library team for their dedication and hard work in ensuring the smooth functioning of the library. The celebration concluded with a vote of thanks delivered by a senior faculty member, who expressed appreciation for Ms. Waval enlightening speech and the active participation of everyone present.

The National Librarian Day celebration at Oriental College of Pharmacy was a resounding success. It not only highlighted the importance of libraries and librarians in the academic environment but also inspired students to develop a deeper appreciation for the wealth of knowledge that libraries offer. The event served as a reminder of the crucial role that librarians like Ms. Sonali Waval play in nurturing the intellectual growth of students and faculty alike.
