1. Best Practice 1: Research Culture Description

7.2.1 Best Practice 1: Research Culture (AY: 2023-24)

1. Title of the Practice: Research Culture

2. Objectives of the Practice:

The institution excels in research, supporting Ph.D. programs, seminars, projects, publications, patents, and fostering a strong research culture.

3. The Context:

The institute admits students from diverse backgrounds, encouraging research and review tasks beyond the classroom to foster a passion for learning and uncover latent potential.

4. The Practice:

The institute prioritizes skill development by promoting research. Management covers half of patent and publication fees, funds research for Ph.D., M. Pharm, and B. Pharm students, and supports faculty and staff participation in conferences. Faculty are encouraged to apply for research funding and publish in reputable journals, enhancing scientific skills.

5. Evidence of Success:

The college's research advisory board, comprising qualified staff, research, and MOUs with industries. Faculty regularly published several research publications, books, and patents, supported by administration. Students receive contingencies for research, with Ph.D. programs encouraged. The institution promotes seminars, workshops, and higher education for community improvement.

6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required:

Significant funds and sponsorships are needed for advanced equipment and high-level research. MOUs with top institutes and industries enhance research facilities, and the college provides access to other institutions for efficient research.

INDUSTRY TRAINING REPORT

A one-day hands-on training program on CAMAG HPTLC System was organized at Anchrom Enterprises, Mulund, Mumbai for First Year M. Pharm (Pharmaceutics) students on 21st October 2023. The training was conducted in 2 batches for total 16 students. The first batch of 10 students was accompanied by Mrs. Vishakha Surve (Asst. professor). The second batch of 6 students was accompanied by Mrs. Varsha Patil (Asst. professor). The training started with a short overview of the company and the basics of HPTLC. This was followed by a visit to the application lab, where the different generations of CAMAG HPTLC Instruments and their components were introduced. Mr. Gaurav Thombare and Ms. Vaidehi Ambekar then demonstrated the HPTLC analysis of green tea sample for estimation of its caffeine content. The visit concluded with a discussion followed by a questionnaire and a group photo.
